Sponsor a School Bus
so Santa Ana school children can explore the wetland!

With rising transportation costs, many schools are cutting science field trips. But outdoor experiences are important if school children are to understand the importance of wildlife and native habitats and how to protect them. Last year, Sea and Sage Audubon paid for 7 bus trips for Santa Ana classes. After his field trip, Martin Elementary School teacher Antonio Magana wrote: “Thanks for this great opportunity for our students. Our students usually don’t get to go and learn through these types of programs.”

Will you help pay for a school bus to make this experience possible? Costs vary from $100 to $400 depending on time and distance to the marsh. However, any amount you can donate will help our School Bus Scholarship Fund. If you have any questions, please contact Trude Hurd, Project Director of Education, at 949-261-7964.

Scholarship Fund: School Bus

Amount: ____________ (check payable to Sea and Sage Audubon)

Your Name: ___________________________________________

Contact Email: _______________________________________

Complete this form, add check, and mail to: Scholarship Fund, Sea & Sage Audubon Society, 5 Riparian View, Irvine, 92612

Thank you for your support of outdoor learning for inner city school children.